

Class 7

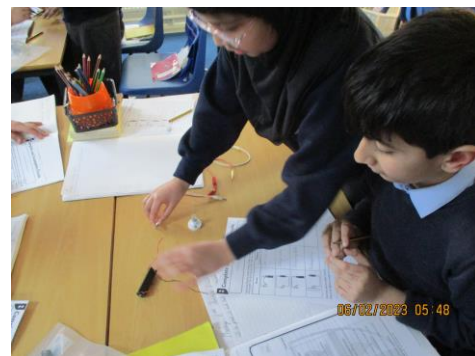

Amanda Morrow came into our class to help us complete our design technology project on electrical systems. We all designed, made and evaluated a steady hand game.

In Literacy this half-term, we have been studying fables from different cultures. We acted out the main parts of the fable 'The Lion with the red eyes' from Somalia.

For Children's Mental Health week we focused on the theme 'let's connect.' We talked about all the people we are connected to and how they make us feel. We also took part in some different mindfulness activities.

Our science topic this half term has been electricity, which means we have been making lots of different circuits. This topic also links to our Design technology project we did with Amanda.
